

TEACHERS' PERCEPTIONS OF ENGLISH GRAMMAR TEACHING AND THEIR TEACHING STRATEGIES

Mamadjonova Dinoraxon

Student of Samarkand State Institute of Foreign Languages

Supervisor: Senior teacher of SamSIFL Ibadova Nafisa Axmatilloevna

Email: azamatmuhammadjonov@gmail.com

Annotation: this article is aimed at defining the English as a Foreign Language senior high schools teachers' perceptions of grammar teaching; their teaching strategies which are the most and less frequently applied in their classroom practices and the challenges that they have in teaching grammar.*

Keywords: dialect, communicative assignments, approach, communication ability, procedure, strategy.*

As one of the most noteworthy disputable talk in comprehending English as the outside dialect inquires about is language structure education. Wrangles about on instructing linguistic use really centered on the ways whether it is instructed verifiably or unequivocally and deductively or inductively which is pointed at making a difference understudies ace it so that they can utilize it in their communication expertise both in verbal and composed dialect. In terms of instructing linguistic use in English as a Remote English as Foreign Language Dialect setting, educating linguistic use is basically centered on helping understudies to captured the design of dialect, and it ought to be instructed in appropriate way that understudies can utilize it in discussion as in orally and in composed shapes. Hence, making a difference understudies to have clear picture of dialect designs and its run the show is the objective of educating linguistic use which pointed at creating viable phonetic. For that reason, in EFL setting, language structure interpretation strategy is the by and large chosen by EFL instructors and as comes about outside dialect learners still confronting challenges in utilizing it into communicative assignments. Instructing language structure ought to be done through shifted procedures and significant exercises so that understudies might figure out the designs of a target dialect in which it leads them to apply it in successful ways. He at that point briefly expressed that “the primary work of linguistic use instructing is to enable the learners to comprehend these sets of rules and so to supply them with the skill of translation within the target language.” To whole up, understudies can apply the language structure information to figure out, get it and make deliberate meaning of utilizing the target dialect in their everyday setting life and it is accepted by the linguistic use specialists that acing the language structure information and rules is the grindstone for accomplishing dialect capability. In EFL outline, English language structure directions still put as contention issue whether it ought to be instructed as deductively, inductively, understood or express from time to times. The noteworthy discoveries from pertinence past ponders report that numerous distinctive viewpoints on instructing language structure from remote dialect instructors are based on their conceptual and procedural information of English language structure itself.

The discoveries too reflect that the ways of language structure ought to be instructed from instructor to educator, analyst to analyst and methodologist to methodologist. From the pertinence speculations, it too portrayed that advancement of instructing language structure approaches, methodologies and strategies are shifted and it is chosen based on the characteristics of the linguistic use substance that be instructed. The discoveries of this consider both quantitative and subjective uncover that the English instructors in Kota Ambon still have great sufficient clear picture almost the concept of language structure, educating language structure approaches, techniques, and strategies. Linguistic use is seen as the pivotal portion of learning remote dialect and it ought to be learned and aced by remote dialect understudies to construct great communication. The more they knowing almost the ways of dialect center, the way better they keep track the implications and as result they will utilize it viably in communication abilities. In line with this, the reason of educating linguistic use is to assist understudies captured the dialect designs with pointed at making down to earth phonetic. In accomplishing this objective, it is anticipated that EFL instructors can enhance their instructing linguistic use strategy and create it into their classroom hones based on their conceptual and procedural information. The investigate discoveries from quantitative information uncover that EFL instructors in Ambon City have the different concept of linguistic use concept and how it is contributed to their instructing language structure approaches, procedures, and strategies. The information of conveyed survey for English instructors in senior tall schools in Ambon appear that 58 instructors or 92% of the instructors get it that language structure is the department of the dialect that help understudies communicates them. The instructors realize that by mindfulness in utilizing language structure and making a difference understudies to get it language structure itself can energize them to specific their selves by a few of ways in English. It is almost instructors or 97% of the instructors have a clear concept of language structure that it is related to organization of design of words in sentences. This conceptual thought is inferred that utilizing language structure rules in communication is way better to communicate the message implications than as it were knowing the words within the single sentence. This thought depicts that the guideline objective of a dialect is to communicate the message in a critical way and the ways understudies learn it ought to be tired deliberate ways so that they not as it were comprehending the linguistic shapes but too can apply it in significant ways. Almost 57 instructors or 90% of the instructors put their conceptual information on language structure beneath prescriptive language structure sort in which instructing language structure ought to be centered on utilizing great standard dialect whether it is right or off-base utilize in communication. This thought is based on prescriptive language structure sort which alludes to standard utilize of dialect and it is the point of instructing English beneath the prescriptive language structure demonstrate. From the reactions, it can be deduced that the instructors center on the rules as they ought to be utilized, hence they expect that in certain condition, they apply redress shapes but other cases they still bargain with off-base shapes especially when they talk with local speakers. On the other hand, 44 instructors or 70% of the instructors put their conceptual information beneath graphic linguistic use sort that displayed the ways of dialect related to kind of English structure that the everyday utilized of local dialect.

In summary, this sort of linguistic use endeavors to clarify the ways of a dialect utilized by local speakers in their existence and maintain a strategic distance from to making a judgment almost off-base or right utilization. Beneath the conventional linguistic use sort, 49 instructors or 77 % of the instructors accept that in their educating language structure, it ought to contain eight distinctive parts of discourse shaped by thing, verbs, articles, pronouns, relational words, participles, conjunctions and intensifiers. To learn a dialect, learners ought to think about these eight categories independently and create rules in agreement with them utilize in interpretation. Nearly English foreign language senior tall school instructors get it the concept of speculations beneath the umbrella of prescriptive language structure, clear linguistic use and conventional language structure. Their reactions appear that their instructing linguistic use encounters have as of now suit with the linguistic use speculations, and it can reflect from their linguistic use classroom hones. On the opposite, the comes about of classroom perception for the five chosen instructors appear that their conceptual information is based on conventional linguistic use sort. They see language structure as the set of rules comprise of eight categories such as things, verbs, pronouns, relational words, participles, conjunctions, articles and qualifiers, and it is reflected through their educating linguistic use materials. Because it is pointed out by the conventional language structure specialists that this sort of language structure is a question to be educating not as a device since it doesn't grounded hypothesis. For that reason, utilizing language structure course readings is basic and ordinarily understudies learn the grammar structures by keep in mind entries and composing chunks. The five chosen instructors for the most part utilize writings to instruct language structure point beginning with reading a text, recognize sentences, discover the dialect utilize of a content and after that make sentences utilize the standard rules of linguistic use.

References:

1. K. Safford, "Teaching Grammar and Testing Grammar in the English Primary School: The Impact on Teachers and their Teaching of the Grammar Element of the Statutory Test in Spelling, Punctuation and Grammar. 2016.
2. B. L. Sykes, A. Verma, and B. H. Hancock, 2018.
3. J. H. Hitchcock and A. J. Onwuegbuzie, "Developing Mixed Methods Crossover Analysis Approaches," 2020.
4. S. Kinn and J. Curzio, "Integrating qualitative and quantitative research methods," 2005.
5. J. Sargeant, "Qualitative Research Part II: Participants, Analysis, and Quality Assurance," 2012.
6. D. Amaratunga, D. Baldry, M. Sarshar, and R. Newton, "Quantitative and qualitative research in the built environment: application of 'mixed' research approach," 2002.
7. J. Agee, "Developing qualitative research questions: A reflective process," 2009.
8. J. H. M. van Rijt, P. J. F. de Swart, A. Wijnands, and P. A. J. M. Coppen, "When students tackle grammatical problems: Exploring linguistic reasoning with linguistic metaconcepts in L1 grammar education," 2019.
9. "Использование интеллектуальных игр в процессе обучения иностранному языку", стр352-353/ "Евразийский научный журнал» #4 апрель 2017. Ибадова Н.А.
10. "TEACHING WRITING THROUGH STORIES", / " INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF ADVANCED RESEARCH IN MANAGEMENT AND SOCIAL SCIENCES" 12.12.2021 Impact Factor(2021): 7.624. Bekturdiyeva G.S.